As we now have our new Archival Room, there has been quite a lot of sorting of the society belongings and of many donated items.

Ruth Nelson (vice president) has donated much of her late mother's personal records from the Ballarat Shire when May Nelson was the first woman President of the Ballarat Shire, amongst these belongings which Ruth is in the process of sorting, she came across a saying which her mother had written, we have gathered that she was having a bad day with the then Shire Secretary and men (not game to say who that might have been — but could guess though), she wrote the following.

AND FOR THE SHIRE SECETERIES ETC - CONFUCIUS SAYS—

There are nine things of which Great Nan must be mindful:

1. To see when he looks.
2. To hear when he listens.
3. To have a facial expression of gentleness.
4. To have an attitude of humility.
5. To be loyal in speech.
6. To be respectful in service.
7. To inquire when in doubt.
8. To think of the difficulties when angry.
9. To think of justice when he sees an advantage.

You blokes don't do too badly; me thinks Confucius would have been pleased with you, if not completely satisfied.
